DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, 6-7, 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Daly US Patent 6,431,144.

Daly has disclosed the invention as claimed showing a method in which ice in a throttle is broken up and melted. After determining that an ice blockage is in the throttle body (see Fig. 3, block 74) an electric motor (30) is induced to move the throttle blade (26). When the throttle is induced to move by the electric motor it will inherently melt the ice through movement and heat transfer.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Daly US Patent 6,431,144.

Daly has disclosed the invention substantially as claimed (see ppgh. 1 above). However, Daly does not show the use of the motor mounted on the underside of the throttle body.

Art Unit: 3747

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to mount the motor at any desired location based on space constraints in the engine. The location of the motor is considered an obvious variant based on the space provided by the other engine components placed near the throttle.

With regard to claim 8, the use of a conventional stepper motor is considered an obvious expedient for precise control.

3. Applicants remarks filed 12-16-04 have been fully considered but are not deemed persuasive to withdraw the rejection of record.

Applicant argues that Daly is silent with respect to the mounting position of the motor. Applicant is directed to the Figures in the Daly Patent which show the motor (30) mounting position.

Applicant also argues that Daly is silent with respect to showing heating the motor to melt ice blockages. It is the Examiners position that the motor will inherently generate heat when operating which will melt the ice placed near the throttle blade to some extent.

For these reasons, the rejection of record is not withdrawn.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3747

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
